

IELTS Academic and General Training Listening Practice Test Based on Real Exam Questions

The IELTS Listening test is one of the four sections of the IELTS exam. It is designed to assess your ability to understand spoken English in a variety of contexts. The test is divided into four parts, each of which contains a different type of listening task.

The Academic and General Training Listening tests are very similar in format. However, there are some key differences between the two tests. The Academic Listening test is designed for students who are planning to study at an English-speaking university. The General Training Listening test is designed for students who are planning to immigrate to an English-speaking country.

In this article, we will provide you with a comprehensive guide to IELTS Academic and General Training Listening practice tests based on real exam questions. We will cover the following topics:

The IELTS Listening test is divided into four parts, each of which contains a different type of listening task. The four parts of the test are as follows:

Part 1: This part of the test consists of two short conversations between two people. You will be asked to answer three questions about each conversation.Part 2: This part of the test consists of a monologue on a specific topic. You will be asked to answer five questions about the monologue.Part 3: This part of the test consists of a conversation between two or more people. You will be asked to answer five questions about the conversation.Part 4: This part of the test consists of a monologue on a specific topic. You will be asked to answer five questions about the monologue.

The total length of the IELTS Listening test is 40 minutes. You will have 30 minutes to listen to the recordings and answer the questions.

There are three different types of listening tasks in the IELTS Listening test:

Note-taking: This type of task requires you to take notes while you listen to the recording. You will then use your notes to answer the questions.Multiple choice: This type of task requires you to choose the best answer from a list of options.True/False/Not Given: This type of task requires you to indicate whether a statement is true, false, or not given in the recording.

Here are some tips and strategies for preparing for the IELTS Listening test:

- Practice listening to English as much as possible. This will help you to get used to the sound of the language and to improve your comprehension skills.
- Familiarize yourself with the format of the IELTS Listening test. This will help you to feel more confident on test day.
- Take practice tests under timed conditions. This will help you to improve your time management skills.
- Review your mistakes after each practice test. This will help you to identify your weaknesses and to improve your overall score.

Here are some sample IELTS Listening practice questions:

Part 1:

Conversation 1

Man: Excuse me, can you tell me where the nearest post office is?

Woman: Yes, it's just around the corner. Go straight ahead and turn left at the next intersection. It's on the right-hand side.Man: Thank you very much.Woman: You're welcome.

Questions:

1. What does the man want to know?
2. Where is the post office located?
3. How does the woman tell the man to get to the post office?

Conversation 2

Woman: I'm looking for a book on the history of the United States.Librarian: We have several books on that topic. They're all in the history section on the second floor.Woman: Thank you. I'll go and have a look.Librarian: You're welcome.

Questions:

1. What is the woman looking for?
2. Where are the books on the history of the United States located?
3. What does the librarian tell the woman to do?

Part 2:

Mon
