The Reasoning Ability section is an important part of the IBPS SBI Bank PO Clerk Prelim exam. It tests the candidate's ability to think logically, analyze information, and solve problems. The questions in this section are typically based on topics such as:

- Logical Reasoning
- Analytical Reasoning
- Verbal Reasoning
- Critical Reasoning

In this article, we will provide you with a comprehensive overview of the Reasoning Ability section of the IBPS SBI Bank PO Clerk Prelim exam. We will also provide you with solved papers and detailed explanations, so that you can practice these questions and improve your score.

Logical Reasoning

Logical reasoning questions test your ability to draw inferences from a given set of facts or statements. These questions can be based on topics such as:

- Syllogisms
- Analogies
- Deductions
- Inductions

Here is an example of a logical reasoning question:

All dogs are mammals.

All mammals are animals.

Therefore, all dogs are animals.

This is a valid syllogism because the (all dogs are animals) follows logically from the premises (all dogs are mammals and all mammals are animals).

Analytical Reasoning

Analytical reasoning questions test your ability to analyze information and draw s. These questions can be based on topics such as:

- Critical reasoning
- Problem solving
- Data interpretation
- Decision making

Here is an example of an analytical reasoning question:

A company has 100 employees. 60% of the employees are male. 40% of the employees are female. How many male employees are there in the company?

To answer this question, you need to first find out how many employees are male. You can do this by multiplying the total number of employees (100) by the percentage of male employees (60%). This gives you 60 male employees.

Verbal Reasoning

Verbal reasoning questions test your ability to understand and interpret written text. These questions can be based on topics such as:

- Reading comprehension
- Vocabulary
- Grammar
- Sentence completion

Here is an example of a verbal reasoning question:

The following passage has been taken from a novel:

"The man was sitting in the corner of the room, hunched over a book. He was wearing a threadbare suit and his shoes were scuffed. He looked like he hadn't had a decent meal in days."

What is the main idea of this passage?

The main idea of this passage is that the man is poor and down on his luck.

Critical Reasoning

Critical reasoning questions test your ability to evaluate arguments and identify fallacies. These questions can be based on topics such as:

- Deductive reasoning
- Inductive reasoning
- Fallacies
- Bias

Here is an example of a critical reasoning question:

The following argument is being made by a politician:

"We need to raise taxes on the rich because they can afford it and it will help to reduce income inequality."

What is the fallacy in this argument?

The fallacy in this argument is that it assumes that raising taxes on the rich will actually reduce income inequality. This is not necessarily true, as there are many other factors that contribute to income inequality.
