The Final FRCA Structured Oral Examination is a two-part exam. The first part consists of a series of short answer questions (SAQs). The second part consists of a series of extended discussion questions (EDQs).

Part 1: Short Answer Questions

The SAQs are designed to test your knowledge of the basic principles of anaesthesia. The questions will cover a wide range of topics, including:

- Pharmacology
- Physiology
- Equipment
- Techniques

You will have 60 minutes to answer 50 SAQs. Each question is worth one mark.

Part 2: Extended Discussion Questions

The EDQs are designed to test your ability to apply your knowledge of anaesthesia to real-world situations. The questions will be based on a clinical scenario. You will be asked to discuss the management of the patient in detail.

You will have 20 minutes to answer each EDQ. Each question is worth 10 marks.

The Final FRCA Structured Oral Examination covers a wide range of topics in anaesthesia. The following is a list of the most commonly tested topics:

- Pharmacology: This includes the pharmacology of anaesthetic agents, opioids, muscle relaxants, and other drugs used in anaesthesia.
