The Early Years: A Foundation for Success

The Mount Saint Charles hockey program traces its roots back to 1946, when a group of dedicated students decided to form a team. With limited resources and little experience, they faced an uphill battle, but their determination and enthusiasm were undeniable.

The team's early years were marked by a series of challenges. They had to practice on a makeshift rink and faced a lack of funding and support. However, through it all, they persevered, gradually building a foundation for the success that would follow.

The Golden Era: A String of Championships

The 1960s and 1970s marked a golden era for Mount Saint Charles hockey. Led by legendary coach Jack Kelley, the team dominated the local and regional scene, winning multiple championships.

During this time, the team produced a number of exceptional players, including Paul Stewart, who went on to have a successful NHL career.

Stewart's contributions to the team were instrumental in their success, and he is still regarded as one of the greatest players in Mount Saint Charles history.

The Modern Era: Continued Success

In recent years, Mount Saint Charles hockey has continued to maintain its status as one of the top programs in New England. The team has qualified for the state tournament every year since 1995 and has won multiple league championships.

The team's success is due in large part to the dedication of its players and coaches. The program emphasizes hard work, teamwork, and discipline, and it is these values that have led to their continued success.

A Legacy of Excellence

Over the past 75 years, Mount Saint Charles hockey has established a legacy of excellence that is unmatched in the region. The team has produced a long line of successful players, including several who have gone on to have successful NHL careers.

But beyond their on-ice accomplishments, Mount Saint Charles hockey has also made a significant impact on the community. The team has helped to promote the sport of hockey in Rhode Island and has provided a positive role model for young people.

The Mount Saint Charles hockey program is a shining example of what can be achieved through hard work, dedication, and teamwork. The team's legacy of excellence is sure to continue for many years to come.
